Webvanta Closes Series A Financing

Webvanta has closed its Series A financing, giving the company the capital to expand its marketing, support, and product development programs.

Sebastopol, CA, December 16, 2009 – Webvanta Inc. today closed its Series A financing, led by a group of angel investors from the North Bay Angels.

Webvanta was founded in fall 2007 to develop what the company calls “website machinery”: hosted content management systems that make it easy to build sites with rich, structured content. Seed financing came from the founders, Michael Slater and Christopher Haupt, and from angel investors.

Webvanta began beta testing its service in late 2008. In September 2009, Webvanta 1.0 emerged from beta, and the service has been gaining a loyal following.

With the new financing, Webvanta will be adding staff and rolling out several new services in 2010.
